NOT PECT US.—GARRYOWEN ESTATE and other land.

This beautiful and bighly improved estate is now offered to the public as a WHULE, subject however to be divided into shares or jots to enable neah shareholder to possess himself of a particular share or jot, and with this view the state has been divided into lots to be determined on as now proposed. By this arrangement, ANY MAN in a few works may be possessed of a large and valuable estate by purchasing a TEN POUND "SHARE TICKET." For instance, Lot No. 1, at foot described, Garryowen House and Domain of 49% scree, upon which the proprietor arpended £22,000—as well as several lots of great values.

A plan is now matured, by which the FEE SIMPLE of the land will be accured to the several parties holding sHARE TICKETs, without the slightest logal difficulty. The plan is a very simple one, and is as follows:—

The proprietor, Mr. RYAN BIENNAN, has agreed with two gentlemen of high raputation (a be named in a future advertisement), to sell to them the above estates for a certain sum, as trustees for the purchasers of share tickes to the number of 3000, at Ten Pounds each hare.

The effect of this arrangement is that each and overy holder of a share ticket becomes the bons fide preprietor or owner of the wholl. Bestarts as THEANS IN COMMON. Therefore the next step to be taken will be to determine the exact lot or share that each shareholder can absolutely take possession of, and be entitled to as his exclusive property.

With this view, the trustees have proceeded to make a take possession of, and be entitled to as his exclusive property.

With this view, the trustees have proceeded to make a partition or division of the estate; but it is found impracticable to make such an RQUAL PARTITION of the said estates as would be approved of by the shareholders. It is therefore considered more expedient to apportion the estate into so many lots as there are shares, making, however, some of considerable value, and the romainder of small value. And the shareholders, by the terms of their sHARR ITERATE, agree to the adoption of that mode of partitions, and to determine their particular shares by drawing loss for the same in the way frequently adopted in partitions of estates in the Court of Chancery. The drawing of the loss to be under the PIRECTION and MANGEMENT of the said trustees, and in a public room or place appointed by them, and in presence of such of the shareholders as may see fit to site nd.

and in presence of such of the shareholders as may see fit to attend.

By this mode of procedurs the highest number drawn will be entitled to Lot No. 1. The next highest number drawn to Lot No. 2 and so on, until the whole of the shares shall be drawn, and in that way determined on.

By this plan all the shareholders are placed on an equal focting as regards the most valuable lots; but each shareholder must get one lot of land, of large or small value, as the case may be.

And the said trustees agree to proceed to the drawing of the lots by the way preposed so soon as all the shares shall be disposed of, or sconer with the consent of the proprietor, Mr. Byan Bernan; and the trustees, immediately after the determination of the respective shares, will coavey the same to the shareholders in fee simple free from all encumbrances of any kind whatsoever.

to the shareholders in fee simple free from all anonumbraness of any kind whatseever.

The following numerical list of the principal lets will be endersed on each share ticket, and a detailed account of the mode of frawing lots above referred to.

If it should happen that the trustees find they cannot carry out this project in its integrity, they, by the terms of each share ticket, undertake to return the amount paid without any deduction whatseever.

This plan is not intended, nor to be regarded, as a lottery in the popular acceptation of the word. The effect is to vest the whole exists in the shareholders, and by their assent to divide it amongst them as now proposed.

Plans and sketches of the mostanisable lots are being prepared for publication, with a full and faithful description of each principal lot.

W. HAT IS CHLORODYNE?—Chlorodyne is a word that was coined by Dr. J. Collis Browne, M.R.C.S.L. (Ex-army Medical Staff), to denote a new principle or remedial agent discovered by him, and nowhere desorthed in medical works or Pharmacoposias.

Chlorodyne is a liquid taken in drops according to age. It invariably relieves pain of whatever kind; oreates a calor refreshing sleep; allays irritation of the nervous system when all other remedies fail; leaving no bad effects like option or laudanum, and can be taben when no other con be tolerated. Its value in saving life in infancy is not easily estimated; a few drops will subdue the irritation of seething, prevent and arrest convalsions, oure whooping cough, spasms, and fastus at once.

Among invalids it allays the pain of neuralita, rheumatism, gent, &c. It scothes the weary achings of consumption, relieves the soreness of the chest, cough and expectoration; and curves all chest affections, such as sathma, bronchitis, palpitation, &c. It checks diarrhoss, a wivine discharges, or spasms, and collos of the intestines, &c.

COWAN and ISRAEL, Proprietors.

The proprietors hereby inform merchants, shippers to the neighbouring colonies, storekeepers, capatine of vossels, wholesale and retail grocers, and the public of Sydney and the colonies, that they are prepared to execute orders for SOAP more speedily, and to larger extent, thun any other house in the trade; and though they do not profess to sell at a lower price, yet they dister themselves that they can more than compensate for the very slight difference in price (shout is, per out), by the self-evident immenses SEPERIORITY of the srikele produced by them, which has stood the test of the last ten years, and is pronounced by all who have used it as the finest manufactured SOAP ever produced in the Australian olionies.

In fact he respectable grocer's shop should be without it, as housekeepers, laundry women, and others have discovered and appreciated its many resommendations as to SAVING, BLEACHING, DETERGENT QUALITIES, and its PERFROT FREEDOM FROM OFFEN. SIVE ODOUR, so generally left after using other soaps attributable to the fact that none but the finest ingredients are used in the manufacture.

Be sure to see the name, "COWAN and ISRAEL SYDNEY." on each bar, none other is geouine. Do not take inferior soaps, which many shopksepers endeavour to push off for the purpose of gaining an extra is, per owt, thereby depriving the consumer of the evolution of a large number of their consumers they have been induced to SWRET LINEN.

They further beg to state that at the suggestion of a large number of their customers they have been induced to commence, for the first time in New South Wales, the manufacture of FANCY SCHNED SOAPS.

matscure of FANCY SCENTED SOAPS, and from the encouraging manner in which even their earliest efforts have been received, they feel sure that the public will codere the epinion already so flatteringly pronounced, that they are superior to anything of the kind ever introduced into the colonies, and that they will support them to their attempts to further colonial manufactures, and by giving the PREPERINCH to colonial over other manufactures, give real and substantial protection to spirited enterprise and honevable competition.

They can be had in small boxes, either in bars or tablets, of nearly every grocer, chemist, or storekeoper in Sydney at the works, as above; or at their Town Office, 9, Sassox street, next to the A.S.N. Co.'s Wharf.

SATURDAY, JULY 2, 1864.

THE statements of the correspondent of the The statements of the correspondent of the Argus, given in our issue of the 1st instant, in reference to the diffusion of convicts throughout the eastern colonies, will require special attention in this city. Having gone to Western Australia for the purpose of inquiring into the circulation of the prison population, he has found that a very large proportion quit the country as soon as they are permitted—sometimes, indeed, escaping, but commonly availing themselves of the right which our local laws have not at present questioned. According to the have not at present questioned. According to the toy statutes passed in South Australia and Port Phillip have their effect in deterring this convict invasion. The British Government has sanctioned such legislation by leaving it to take its course. We still feel the repugnance we have always felt to any interferoment. we have always felt to any interference with persons of whom it may be, perhaps, charitably inferred, that they are desirous of getting an honest bread; but the question does not come to us in this simple and abstract form. Here are two powerful colonies standing between us and Western Australia who bar their ports by penal legislation. These prohibitions have received the sanction of the Crown. The effect, as pointed out by the Argus Correspondent, is to send the liberated convicts in very large proportions to this country. They silently enter and diffuse themselves among us, and we fear continue that supply of fresh adepts, and of those criminal traditions, of smong us, and we rear continue that supply of fresh adepts, and of those criminal traditions, of which we have already so onerous—so fearful a share. It must be in the power of the police of this colony to ascertain the character and direc-tion of this immigration. We have a right, at least, to know what is going on. The silent infil-tration of such undesirable elements to our already morally enfeebled population, is certainly both a dishonour and a danger. Those who watch the influx of criminals from those posts of observation which the other colonies have established will not be slow to tell the world what are the channels of crime, and where the principal portion of British liberated offenders principal portion of British liberated offenders find a new sphere for their sinister industry. Besides the injury, we shall therefore suffer the disgrace. We are thus placed in a very trying position. We are compelled to look at the prohibitory laws as imposed upon us by their existence in other colonies. We should certainly from our distance escape the influx from Western Australia but for those intervening barriers which South Australia and Victoria have established. Having erected them, it becomes necessary that we should imitate their policy, because we have stronger reasons than ever they had.

The tone in which the subject is sometimes treated by the neighbouring Press shows how thoroughly oblivious the writers have become of the early history of Victoria,—that it was a dependency of New South Wales, and so continued until transportation was abolished,—and that a large number of convicts were established in the Victorian districts, of which the records must still be in the archives of the Superintendent's Office. It must be lost sight of that Victoria herself sent to Tasmania to of that Victoria herself sent to Tasmania to import the liberated population to promete the material development of the country. It must have alse escaped recollection that of the present population of Victoria a very large proportion must necessarily be of convict origin, and it is equally forgotten that from this accumulation of convicts, collected from time to time in Port Phillip, there is an overflow into New South Wales and that is an overflow into New South Wales, and that we can trace in our criminal statistics large addi-tions to our burdens by this contiguity and Australia and Victoria have established. Having

We do not mention these facts in detraction. On the contrary, we have always felt satisfaction in the prosperity of Victoria and regret when it has suffered misfortune. If we refer to such subjects, it is certainly not by way of taunt, but to correct the mistakes and to abate somewhat of the scorn with which the troubles of this country are occasionally described and illustrated.

The necessity to ascertain the truth and to apply such remedies as may not be yet within the compass of our laws will certainly enforce itself by the accounts of crime contained daily in our journals. No one who enforce itself oks at these can besitate to justify any precautions we can possibly adopt to prevent the increase of that mischief which has grown into the dimensions not only of a gigantic dishonour but of a dreadful calamity. It was impossible for any colonist to look over our journal of yesterday without feelings of the deepest pain-without humiliation.

Simultaneously with legislation to bar the entrance of convicts from Western Australia, we need certainly a measure to meet the remote from Victoria, where, if rumour does not exaggerate, settlers large and small are accomplices of such monsters as Mongan - receive his booty, and assist him by their counsel and vigilance in perpetrating crime and escaping punishment.

We hope that the organization of a new force for the pursuit of this man may be attended with success; but this dep.nds entirely upon the degree of favour which he com-mands among the degraded class who are de-scribed by the Yass Courier. It seems incredible that any persons can exist among us—being possessed of homes and family and properly—who have even the remotest sympathy with a man covered with infamy and blood. A searching inquiry into these fac's ought to be made by the Government, and if found to be true s summary jurisdiction should be authorised by law to be established wherever such neighbour hoods exist-to root them out-or to quarter upon them the force necessary to keep the peace and in every possible way to throw upon them the consequences of their sympathy with crime. Such is the course always taken by Govern-ments, unless they resolve to abandon to anarchy and bloodshed these who show themanarchy and bloodshed these who show themselves incapable of living in lawful society. We are not surely come to this? Surely there is in a British colony a latent force and honesty—a love of order—a hatred of pillege and murder which shall enable us to combat this most formidable evil and destroy the men by whom it is inflicted or sheltered. We commend the whole subject to the careful consideration of the Government. We trust that when the House

neets, the Ministers will be in a condition to communicate the fullest information on both there subjects: the influx of criminals, and their shelter and protection by certain classes of the inhabitants in the interior of this vast country.

It is a deplorable thing that the time, thought, and energies of the community should be expended upon such subjects. Instead of devoting our undivided atte. con to draw forth the unexampled material wealth which is lodged in unexampled material wealth which is lodged in our soil, we have to encounter every species of interruption and loss by violent men. Our mails are stopped and riffed. Travellers find the common roads unsafe. Large stations are pilleged by day with all the deliberation of a military loot. The expense of police is multiplied to an extent which trenches largely upon the public revenue, and embarrasses the colonial finance. Unless safety can be established and crime rooted out all the material sdvantages we possess are conferred in vain. dvantages we possess are conferred in vain The basis of all prosperity must be the security of life and property, and to assure it is the first duty and, we regret to say, the great difficulty

THE statement made by Mr. ROBERTSON at the Relief Meeting, to the effect that in bygone times wheat was sown at Singleton in the month of August after a great flood, and yielded a good harvest, is as encouraging as it is im-portant. We are not able to refer to the meteorology of that year, but we presume that after the abatement of the flood the rest of the season the abatement of the flood the rest of the season was favourable to wheat growing, and that the crop had to contend with no other disadvantage than arose out of the lateness of the period at which it was grown. We cannot of course feel any certainty that the rest of the present year will be such as to gladden the heart of the agriculturist, but we can hope that it may; and the farmer must act as if he believed it would. Despondency must not be allowed any supremacy. "He that observeth the wind shall not sow, and he that regardeth the clouds shall not reap." We have had so much rain already that it is reahave had so much rain already that it is reasonable to suppose that a good proportion of fair weather is now in store. We have had during the first six months of this year not only an overdose of rain, but we have had a whole year's allowance. We cannot infer from this that 1864 having already had its full quantum from the clouds, there is to be drought till next December, because the skies do not put us on a rigid allowance; but it is allowed us to ex pect that the worst of the pluvial discharge is over. The weather at the opening of this month is sufficient to shew that the clouds are by no means squeezed dry, but we may trust that at any rate the year may close without any more destructive floods.

Much of the ground has no doubt been injuriously sodden, but, what with drying westerly winds and the aid of such drainage promptly practicable, a large area brought into a fit condition for the pleugh before the sowing season for wheat has closed. No effort should be spared to seize every opportunity that remains. Losses so far ting an excuse for folding the arms in dleness, only furnish a fresh reason for indefatigable industry. To catch what remains of the season is to seize the best chance of retrieving the damage done by the floods. There may be yet a harvest after all, even if there have may be yet a harvest after all, even if there have had to be two or three ploughings. But to lose the stason is to postpone all attempt at recovery till next year. Much of the submerged land has been enriched by the alluvial deposit, and to transform this natural manure into a golden transform the statement and golden cuiness. tamestern in hauter manure into a golden harvest and golden guineas, without any loss of time, is the way to make nature repay us for her inflictions. In some cases, we hear that farms have been injured by the floods, the whole of the tilled surface soil having been washed away by the scour of the running water. But these cases are the exception, rather than the rule and the general experience is, that a flood though it entails a present loss, leaves behind it the germs of future gain. The sooner those germs are made to ripen, the better.

Hitherto relief has almost exclusively taken the form of supplying wants in respect of food and clothing. How far it would be practicable or expedient to make the relief extend to giving assistance to get seed into the ground is a matter deserving serious consideration. Persons on the spot and cognisant of all detailed circum-stances will be better able to judge on this point than those at a distance. Landlords may, in many cases, be able and willing to make the necessary advances without the inter-vention of any third parties, and where this can be done it is the best arrangement possible. Charity is misplaced when it jostles out of position a natural commercial arrangement. Nor will it be satisfactory to see the contribu tions of the public appropriated by an indirect process to the payment of rent. There were some abuses connected with the Government distribution of seed wheat last year. Some of the sted never went into the ground at all, but was used as food. Had not the rust, however, destroyed the harvest, the general effect of the distribution of the seed would have been to have ensured a much larger harvest than would otherwise have been reaped. The operation of the Government in this case was admittedly exceptional. Had the result been favourable and the money lent been returned, a precedent would have been established that night perhaps have been subsequently stretched te an undesirable extent. As it is, it seems unlikely that the Government will repeat the experiment. But private benevolence might with less risk of abuse perform the process of loaning seed wheat. In order not to pauperise the recipients—a matter of immense im-portance as relates to the moral training of the population—seed wheat might be lent on the security of the crop, for which the Act allowing of a preferable lien on crops offers every facility; and the debt, when repaid, might be made payable to the funds of the local hospitals or to central charities in Sydney. In this case the money now raised would not only lend a helping hand to the industrious agriculturist temporarily impoverished, but would be to some extent a reversionary legacy to our permanent charities. It might be neces sary in some instances to increase the loan beyond the mere grant of seed wheat. To secure the putting in of seed without delay it might be necessary to hire implements, and also to hire labour.

But by whatever process the end may be sccomplished, the important thing to see to is that whatever extent of flooded land is capable of cultivation should be cultivated. Whatever assistance may be needed by the farmers to ensure this result, let it be given in some form or other, or through some agency—the less in-jurious to their self-reliance, and the more approximate to a commercial operation, of course, the better. But at all risks of possible evil let us do what can be done to ensure the re-cultivation of as much land as possible, Our present dependence on foreign imports of flour, though it may be a fine thing for a few speculators, is a trying thing for the great body of consumers; and it is not desirable that we should repeat the ex perience next year. Nor can we calculate on drawing what we want from our present grassry in South Australia. The harvest there next year may be as unoxceptionably poor as it has this year been plentiful. Indeed, the farmers there are already complaining of drought, while we have been lamenting over a deluge, and some of them have not store that the source of them have not some them. deluge, and some of them have re sowed their land. Under these circumstances, it wil be well to leave no stone unturned to diminish our dependence as much as possible. our dependence as much as possible. The fear of rust has already to a large extent led to the substitution of other crops this year for wheat, so that, even without floods, there would probably be a shorter supply than usual. All the more reason, therefore, for getting what wheat is still possible off the alluvial lands that have been flooded.

The principal chiest of the catalogue is stated to be to give a complete dist of all the genera and species of Australian land shells yet known to be described, and to supply descriptions of such as have not been yet recorded. Lowen Lachilan AND Darlina.—We have news from this country of a recent date. The weather is very dry, but the fact continues good. Settlers are crying on for rain, and prhaps the cownfall of the last few days has reached the Lower Lachlan and Darling. There are great improvements going on in the country taken up by Mr. Hugh Glass and Mr. Ligar, in the district lying between the Lower Lachlan and the Darling, in the country to the north of Hooigal. About 169 men are employed, and doubtless he lesses will reap a reward for their enterprise. There is an immense country to be reclaimed in this part, where 5000 min could be profitable cocupied in sinking wells, cutting "reces," and following the plan laid down by Mr. Jangs Tyson, of leading the water from the main stream to the back country. It is estimated that for £30 000 a canal of $10 miles could be cut, from the Middle Lachian to the Darling, baseding a district capable, it is estimated of pracing upwards of 2,000,000 sheep.—Pastoral Times, June 25.

Snow in The West.— During he last week sow storms have driven over the hills around Bathurst for sevaral days together. EARLY in the morning of last Wednesday week, a fire broke out in the roof of a kitchen in Victoria-street, West Maitland, mearly opposite the School of Aris, and at one time during its progress threatened to become an exvensive conflagration. CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY.

BEFORE the Police Magistrate, with Messes. Spence, Asher, Peden, and Day.

Fourteen prisoners (two on romand) were brought before the Court, of whom one was remanded and eight were discharged. Among the latter were two men who on the 22ad June were apprehended by a detective, at Pentith, on the arrival of the Bathurst cosch, "on suspicion of having been concerned with others in robbing the mail, between Bathurst and Orange, on the 18th June." The prisoners alleged that they were many miles away from the Bathurst Road at the time of the robbery; and complained that the detective officer at Bathurst, with whom they were in conversation shortly before they left, did not himself charge them on the spot, where they had evidence which would have immediately set his suspicions at rest—instead of tolegraphing his suspicion to Si dney, and causing them to be apprehended where no exculpatory evidence is procurable. The detective asked for a remand of no less than eight days, and it was granted. To-day, the period having expired, they were brought before the Police Magistrate. The apprehending officer deposed that, from inquiries made by the police, he had reason to believe that the prisoners were on another road at the time the Bathurst mail was stopped; and, in reply to a question by his Worahlp, said that he had no objection to the prisoners being discharged.

Feur persons, said to be idle and disorderly, found druak and riscous, were sentenced to be imprisoned one month. On the summons paper were eight cases. John J. Curran was fixed 10s., while Alexander Couler and John Lucas were fined 2s. 6d. each, for obstructing public thoroughfares. Two cases were dismissed—one of which was that Matilda Smith complained of Mary Dosmond that she en the 17th June did "most violenty and maliciously declare and threaten that if she could not have her, this complainant, by fair means she would by foul." and the other was for the alleged illegal detention of a dog. Two others were postponed, and one was

MERCANTILE AND MONEY ARTICLE. FRIDAY EVENING. THE following is the amount of Customs' duties

Total Slott 10 10

The amount of gold coin issued by the Sydney Branch of the Royal Mint during the week ended (to-day) July 1st, has been 109,000

Sovereigns.

The quantity of gold-dust imported into the same establishment during the week for the purpose of coinage has amounted to 2624 ounces.

During the month of June the quantity of gold dust delivered by the Escorts from our several gold-fields amounted to 21,062 ounces against 32,644 ounces for the corresponding month of the year 1863. The decrease on the month is, therefore, 11,582 ounces or 35 per per cent. For the six months ended the 30th of June, 1863, the receipt of gold-dust reached 225,375 cunces, but for the past six months they only amount to 152,132 ounces, being a decrease of 73,243 ounces, or over 32 per cent. This great falling off in the yield of our gold-fields is owing to the small quantities received from the Lachlan, Burrangong, and Braidwood gold-fields, and which, during the years 1862 and 1863 forwarded an amount the difference of which and the present returns would be quite equal to the deficiency we have already noticed.

The subjoined table will show the amounts delivered by the Escorts from the Western delivered by the Escorts from the Western, Southern, and Northern gold-fields during the first six months of the years 1868 and 1864:—

From this table it will be found that there is a decrease of 43,009 ounces or 37 per cent on the yield ot gold from the Western gold-fields, 24,518 ounces or 28 per cent. on the Southern, and 4816 ounces or 26 per cent. on the Northern

Northern.
In order to make a fair comparison of the In order to make a fair comparison of the yield of our gold-fields this year, we give below the quantities delivered by the Escorts for the first six months of the years 1854 to 1864, and it will be seen that from 1854 to 1862 the yield of gold increased considerably. But in 1863 a falling off took place, and the receipts of the past half-year are less than any previous corresponding half-year since the year 1859. The decrease as compared with 1862 is 147,000 ounces, and 36,000 ounces less than 1861, and 28,000 ounces less than 1860.

The improvements are described as follows:—A comfortable cottage, lately erected, boarded floors and shingled roof; garden, with fruit trees, &c., &c., ; man shut, yards; drating and spaying yards, capable of working the hard efficiently; a large paddock, and a smaller one. These improvements are on Cumbedello; en Minne Minname a hut and weaning yard.

The auctionser particularly invites intending purchasere to inspect that the quality of the herd, the extent and fattenning capabilities of the runs—the country being well walved and adapted for both cattle and sheep—cannet full to impress upon insteading purchasers that this important equating property, pseusaning on many deventages, offers an investment to be perhaps equalled, but not canolice in the colony, more especially as the sale is persupplying any information in his power.

From The "THOM SI" —

"Two motives, it may be presumed, prevailed with the committee of the Shakespere Fund, especially constituted for the occasion, in soliciting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kean to give their 'Readings and Recitations' immediately previous to their departure for Australia—the one to secure as a tractive a performance as possible, the other to mark on phatically their sense of the claims of the two actors to the utmost regard and exteen, and to present them, as it were, to the public to make their parting bow. A more gracoful compilment was never paid to arristes under any diretunstances. The hishest and the noblest in the land, the most renowned and influential judges of the courts, unambers of both houses of the Legislature, prelates and peers, one-reveatives and radicals, poets, pointers, soutptors, discretized and beard together to lend their countenance to the farewell performance. The patronage of the Bishop of London and Worcenter was, above all, an act of grace simmet unprecedented. It was indeed a proud moment for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kean, pethaps the proudest in their lives—to the the objects of such profund sympathy. Who henceforward can proclaim that art is not reverenced in this country. Certainty no more than poetic justice was done to the illustrious pair in Friday night's demonstration. DUNEDIN LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Driver, M'Lean, and Co,'s report, 18th June:—

We have no material change to notice in our stock market.

Transactions during the past month have been extremely limited, with but slight improvement in prices obtained.

Stores (both skeep and entite) are very difficult of sale, except at extremely low rates, to which holders are not inclined to submit.

ordinary, 45s to 60s.
Fat Calves are in good demand at from £4 to £6, according to size and quality.
Store Cattle continue quite unsafeable at anything like their former value, consequently transactions are limited.
Fat Sheep—The market continues glutted with sheep, but little better than stores. Frime mutton is in fair demand, and would realize about 62 by or 1b. As soon as the present inferior stock is worked off, we look for an improvement in prices and demand.

stock is weeked off, we look for an improvement in prices and demand.

Bione Sheep.—With one or two exceptions, the market is now spatie bare of imported sheep, and we do not expect turther stip-ments. Young provincial-bred ewes are inquired after, with few offering.

Horses.—Mesers. Milner and Learmonth report this market greatly depressed, which they attribute to the departure of many of our diggers, and the low rate of carriage to the mining districts.

To the Editor of the Herald.

Sin,—In your issue of June 21st Mr. Maye, C.E., states that he has received from me a sample of the grass I wrote to you about on the 30th ultimo. Mr. Maye says that having to depend on Yass Plains for a supply of this material, for commercial purposes, would necessarily deprive it of its value. Since I sent that gentleman the sample he speaks of, I have taken come to Mr. H. Hune (so mean authority on colonial matters), and he recognised it at once ea being a grass that used to be made use off in his early days for extempore rope making, &c. He informs me that it grows extemnisely (or did in these days) where he was brought up, that is Appla and its neighbourhood. This would surely be near enough for marketshie purposes.

Yours respectfully.
